Three faculties and one school (and their six departments) at the Urayasu Campus accept a number of international students: the Faculty of Languages and Cultures, Faculty of Economics, Faculty of Real Estate Sciences, and School of Hospitality & Tourism Management. The urban environment near central Tokyo offers a variety of educational opportunities to the students.

Faculties and Departments

Urayasu Campus, Near Central Tokyo

Faculty of Languages and Cultures

■ Department of Japanese

The training we provide produces Japanese language specialists who possess a deeper understanding of Japan's society and culture, as well as a combination of international sensibilities and erudition.

■ Department of English

Students acquire sophisticated, practical communication skills in classes that offer many opportunities for discussion and debate in English.

■ Department of Chinese

Providing thorough language training with a unique teaching system that focuses on speaking skills, students acquire practical Chinese language skills that can pass muster in international society.

Faculty of Economics

■ Department of Economics

Our training provides business professionals a means to survive the current global society, a high level of skills in the respective fields of public policy, finance, management, accounting, and financial affairs, as well as knowledge encompassing everything from local to international society.

Faculty of Real Estate Sciences

■ Department of Real Estate Sciences

This is the only faculty in Japan that produces real estate experts who possess expertise required in actual society through comprehensive real estate sciences studies involving the three fields of law, economics, and engineering.

School of Hospitality & Tourism Management

■ Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management

Tourism Major

Students study various aspects of the tourism industry—including travel, hotels and airlines—to acquire a hospitality mindset as well as to obtain the practical English-language skills required.

Management & Informatics Major

Students study management and digital technology to acquire the knowledge needed to derive the best solutions for settings and environments where digitization is required, as well as the mindset to apply this knowledge properly in the real world.

Global Management Major

All courses related to tourism and management are conducted in English, and students sharpen their language skills and abilities to a global standard by studying abroad for one year.

Graduate Schools

- Graduate School of Applied Linguistics
- Graduate School of Economics
- Graduate School of Real Estate Sciences

The graduate schools impart advanced knowledge and skills. There are currently a lot of international students enrolled in these graduate schools, and the university encourages them to study with their Japanese counterparts.

Graduate Schools

Producing People with Advanced, Specialized Knowledge and Skills

Graduate School of Applied Linguistics

Applied linguistics, a field in which students study a broad range of topics related to language and human behavior, covers a variety of subjects, including foreign-language education, language and society, psychology, computers, literature, and culture. In addition to the three courses—language education, language theory, and language culture—this graduate school also offers programs on Japanese- and English-language education, among others.

• Degrees

Master's Program: Master's degree in applied linguistics or master's degree in Japanese-language education

Doctoral Program: Doctoral degree in applied linguistics or doctoral degree in Japanese-language education

Graduate School of Economics

This graduate school offers a multidisciplinary curriculum that covers both academic and practical facets of the discipline of economics, including international economics, development economics, social welfare, population issues, tax laws, management and accounting. Our experienced faculty members provide students with the fundamental, academic and practical courses they need to boost their level of specialization. We also emphasize empirical analysis and computer literacy courses.

• Degrees

Master's Program: Master's degree in economics

Graduate School of Real Estate Sciences

This graduate school combines research findings from the individual fields of law, engineering, economics and business administration into a single field we call real estate sciences. It is the only program of its kind in Japan to comprehensively address topics ranging from real estate market analysis to urban and environmental construction. The school offers a wide range of highly specialized programs in the three subjects of real estate analysis, real estate policy, and the real estate business.

• Degrees

Master's Program: Master's degree in real estate sciences

Doctoral Program: Doctoral degree in real estate sciences

Special Japanese Language Course

The Special Japanese Language Course offers Japanese-language education aimed at enabling students to pursue higher education at a Japanese university or graduate school based on the concept of international exchange, which is set in the motto of this university.

Special Japanese Language Course

A University Open to the World

About the Special Japanese Language Course

The Special Japanese Language Course was established in 1991. It embodies the Meikai University spirit of international exchange and provides the kind of Japanese-language education that students need in order to pursue an education at the university level.

The major difference between this special course and an ordinary Japanese-language school is that the purpose of the former is to enable students to pursue higher education at the undergraduate and graduate school level in Japan. Students who complete one year of this program can pursue an undergraduate or graduate school education at Meikai University or any other national, public, or private university or graduate school in Japan.

Model Case of Advancement to Higher Education

Persons accepted into a Meikai University undergraduate faculty/school or graduate school after passing the Special Japanese Language course will be exempt from paying the admission fee. In addition, persons who pass level N1 of the Japanese-Language Proficiency Test will receive an exemption from their first year of tuition (¥698,000; excluding School of Health Sciences and School of Dentistry).

Special Features

1 Classes Divided into Small Groups by Skill Level

Breaking the class up by skill level ensures that lessons can be specifically tailored to students and conducted as efficiently as possible.

2 Practical Curriculum

The course offers a practical curriculum, the ultimate goal of which is to enable students to continue their education at a Japanese university.

3 Enrollment by Recommendation

Students who excel in their studies can enroll in Meikai University (Faculty of Languages and Cultures, Faculty of Economics, Faculty of Real Estate Sciences, or School of Hospitality & Tourism Management) by recommendation.

4 Interaction with Japanese Students

Various event programs to promote interaction and experiences with Japanese language and culture are organized, including activities with students of the Faculty of Languages and Cultures.

Number of International Students in the Special Course

Note: Figures are as of May 1, 2023.

Meikai University has accepted international students from the following countries and regions.

Sri Lanka: 37; Vietnam: 7; China: 6; Ukraine: 3; Nepal: 1; Egypt: 1; Nigeria: 1

Scholarships

Meikai University Toyoko Toyoda Scholarship

This scholarship was established using donations from Toyoko Toyoda, a professor emeritus who previously taught classes on Japanese affairs as part of the Special Japanese Language Course. The scholarship is awarded through a selection process to candidates who want to continue their higher education but need financial assistance, who have demonstrated their academic ambitions and achieved excellent grades, and who have a high rate of attendance. The scholarship period is six months. The monthly scholarship is ¥50,000. In the 2023 academic year, this scholarship was awarded to four students in the special course.

Curriculum Well-Rounded Curriculum

Curriculum

The goal of this course is to bring students' Japanese-language skills up to the level required for taking classes at the undergraduate or graduate school level. It is designed for international students who are hoping to enroll in a university or graduate school program.

Furthermore, by enhancing students' understanding of Japanese culture and society, this program aims to help improve their quality of life and ability to communicate while living in Japan.

Japanese Language

Systematic Japanese-language education is provided based on each student's level of Japanese. The curriculum aims to help students perform well on the Examination for Japanese University Admission for International Students (EJU), which measures the skills that are needed for admission to a university.

- Grammar
- Kanji/hiragana/katakana and vocabulary
- Oral expression
- Listening comprehension
- Reading comprehension
- Written expression

Liberal Arts

By teaching a broad range of subjects, including Japanese geography, industry, history, and current affairs, this course aims to give students a more in-depth understanding of Japan.

- Japanese affairs

General Education

The course offers classes on subjects that are on the EJU and university entrance exams.

- English (*)
- Mathematics
- Society

Note: Although not an EJU subject, English-language study is essential because it may be assessed during entrance exams, and many universities make it a compulsory subject after enrollment.

Education Staff

Highly experienced instructors are passionate about their work and offer thorough student guidance.

Study and Employment Support Program for International Students

This support program is designed to boost study effectiveness and enhance the employability of international students.
 Target: Students accepted to the university after passing the Special Entrance Exam for International Students
 Note: Programs are subject to change.

Enrichment and Enhancement of Japanese-Language Studies

The Japanese-language studies program for international students has been enriched to improve the effectiveness of studying at this university.

Key points

- ◆ Participation in this class is now mandatory, and will be conducted on an intensive basis during the first year following enrollment.
- ◆ Classes are small, with around twenty students per class.
- ◆ We support students taking external examinations (JLPT, BJT, etc.) from the time of admission to graduation, and use the results to point out ways for students to improve their Japanese-language skills.

Japanese-language courses for international students aiming for JLPT Level N1

Course name	Schedule	Credits	Total class hours
Academic Japanese I/II/III/IV	One class/week; entire first year	2	60

Note: Students who have passed JLPT N1 and will not be participating in the MGO International Student Support Program are exempt from taking these courses, and will take "Basic Studies I-III" just like Japanese students do.

Enrichment of Career Studies

We have enriched career studies to help international students find employment in their chosen fields.

Key Points

- ◆ Special classes for international students have been created.
- ◆ Internships for international students have been implemented, mainly aimed at future employment in companies in Japan or Japanese companies overseas.

Career-building curriculum courses

Course name	Schedule	Credits	Class hours
Career Planning I	One class/week; second semester of the first year	2	30
Career Planning II	One class/week; first semester of the second year	2	30

Additionally, there are educational programs and internships through industry-university ties, etc.

Note: The MGO International Student Support Program is available for international students wishing to work in Japan (see below).

MEXT-approved MGO International Student Support Program

MEXT has certified this as an educational program that supports international students wishing to work in Japan. The MGO program provides Japanese-language education, career education, and internship programs according to the students' Japanese-language abilities, and fosters human resources who are able to find employment in Japan.

1 Japanese-Language Education

Students will be separated into classes according to their Japanese-language abilities at the time of enrollment, and will receive Japanese-language education starting in the first year.

● Students who have passed Level N2 of the JLPT

Students will take "Academic Japanese Standard Class" and Japanese Advanced Skills course with the goal of obtaining Level N1.

● Students who have passed Level N1 of the JLPT

Students will take "Academic Japanese High Class" during their first year and "Business Japanese Course" during the second year to improve their Japanese-language skills.

2 Career Education

Career development education is provided from the second semester of the first year through the second year. Faculty members, employment coaching staff and Career Support Center staff also provide career support to each student in the program who take the Career Design course in their third year.

3 Internship

Students who have obtained Level N1 Japanese-language skills will participate in an internship at a program-designated company during the summer and spring vacations of the second year and the summer vacation of the third year of at least two weeks.

International students who have completed all of 1 to 3 above will receive a certificate of completion.

Students who obtain a certificate of completion will receive guidance from the employment coaching staff beginning in their fourth year.

Entrance Exams for Transfer Students, Junior College Graduates and University Graduates

- 1 (Junior college graduates) Individuals who have graduated or expect to graduate in March 2025 from a junior college. This includes overseas junior colleges and schools located in Japan designated as equivalent to a foreign junior college (for example, the Japanese branch of a foreign university considered the equivalent of a junior college by the minister of education, culture, sports, science and technology).
- 2 (Junior college graduates) Individuals (as noted in Article 90, Clause 1 of the School Education Act) who have completed a postsecondary course at a specialized training college or expect to complete such a course in March 2025. The course must have a term of two years or longer, and meet criteria determined by the minister of education, culture, sports, science and technology.
- 3 (Transfers from another university) Must have been enrolled in a university in Japan (other than Meikai University) for two or more years and obtained sixty-two or more credits (includes anyone who expects to fulfill the above requirements by March 2025).
- 4 (University graduates) Must have obtained a bachelor's degree or expect to obtain one by March 2025.
- 5 Department of Economics applicants must have a grade of B or higher in the Economics Record Examination or a Level 2 rank or higher in the Japanese Chamber of Commerce and Industry's bookkeeping certification test.

6 Applicants to the Department of English or Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management (Tourism major) must possess English-language abilities equivalent to CEFR level B1 or higher, as evaluated in a test such as the EIKEN (see the 2025 transfer student/junior college graduate/university graduate admission application guidelines for details).

7 Applicants to the Management & Informatics major of the Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management must have obtained an IT Passport certificate. They must also possess English-language abilities equivalent to CEFR level A2 or higher, as evaluated in a test such as the EIKEN (see the 2025 transfer student/junior college graduate/university graduate admission application guidelines for details).

8 Applicants to the Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management (Global Management major) must have scored 6.5 or higher on the IELTS or 80 or higher on the TOEFL iBT within two years of the entrance exam date.

9 International students must have acquired Level N1 (formerly known as Level 1) on the Japanese-Language Proficiency Test, or demonstrate equivalent proficiency in Japanese. (This does not include applicants for the School of Hospitality & Tourism Management [Global Management major])

10 International students who were or are enrolled at a Japanese language school or an institution such as a professional training college in Japan must have maintained an attendance record of 90 percent or higher at the last school they attended for the period our school designates.
 Note: Excludes junior colleges.

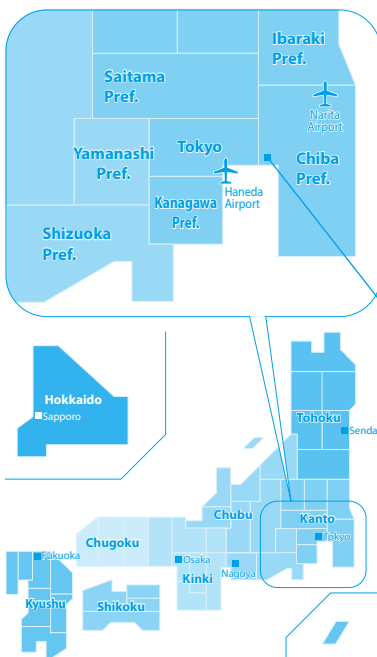

For other conditions, please refer to the 2025 transfer student/junior college graduate/university graduate admission application guidelines.

Fees (after a 30 percent reduction in tuition)

Junior year: ¥994,800 (includes admission fee)
 Senior year: ¥783,600

- Notes: 1. The admission fee is waived for students who have already completed the Special Japanese Language Course at this university.
 2. Excluding Department of Hospitality & Tourism Management

For more details on the entrance exams, refer to the entrance exam guidelines for the 2025 academic year.
